OUR PRODUCT

1. The backbone of our cabinets, our 5/8-inch cabinet-grade plywood ensures durability and long-lasting strength. This distinguishes our cabinets from the pressboard varieties commonly found in the market, offering you a higher standard of quality.
2. Elevate your kitchen experience with the seamless integration of soft-close technology in both our drawer slides and door hinges. Our undermount drawer slides ensure each drawer closes softly and silently, offering ease of use and efficient storage. Similarly, our soft-close door hinges eliminate the disruption of slamming doors, allowing for a gentle and quiet closure. These features add a touch of luxury to your everyday kitchen use, making your interactions with Rigel Cabinetry's products as pleasing as they are practical.
3. The face frames of our cabinets are made from 3/4-inch solid hardwood, providing a robust and sturdy framework that enhances both the durability and aesthetic appeal of our designs.
4. Our RTA cabinets simplify installation without sacrificing quality. Utilizing the PEANUT® system, we ensure easy and secure assembly, enhancing both convenience and durability.

DRAWER BOXES

Choose the perfect foundation for your storage with our drawer boxes, designed to offer both aesthetic appeal and enduring strength.

Dovetail

For unmatched durability and a touch of classic craftsmanship, we offer our custom dovetail drawer boxes. Known for their robust interlocking joints, these boxes are significantly stronger and designed to last. Customize with a laser-engraved insignia to add a personal touch or a distinctive flair to your cabinetry. This option not only reflects superior craftsmanship but also elevates the luxury of your interiors.

Our drawer boxes are built to last, offering both beauty and functionality in every slide.

FINISHING PROCESS

Every Rigel cabinet is finished with Sherwin-Williams Conversion Varnish Top Coat, a professional-grade catalyzed coating prized for its durability and clarity. We spray each piece with an HVLP gun in a controlled environment, building the finish in even, consistent coats. This spray application is our standard because it delivers the most uniform color and sheen across every door, drawer front, and panel—so your kitchen or built-in looks cohesive from one end to the other. Conversion Varnish also stands up to the daily demands of a working home, resisting moisture, household chemicals, and the wear that comes with years of use.

For customers who prefer the character of a hand-applied finish, we also offer wiped-on stains. This traditional technique brings out the natural grain and warmth of the wood with a softer, more artisanal look. Because wiped-on stains are applied by hand, slight variation from piece to piece is part of their appeal—but for projects where consistent color is the priority, we recommend and default to our sprayed Conversion Varnish.

To add depth and dimension, we offer glazed finishes as well. A glaze is applied over the base finish and worked into the profiles, edges, and detailing of the cabinetry, accentuating the craftsmanship and giving each piece a richer, more layered appearance.

Whether you choose a clean sprayed finish, the warmth of a wiped-on stain, or the added depth of a glaze, every option is finished to the same standard of quality that defines Rigel Cabinetry.

A CATALOG TO START FROM, NOT A LIMIT TO BUILD WITHIN

Standard cabinetry for fast, accurate quoting

We maintain a complete library of standard cabinets through 2020 Design Flex—the same catalog our designers use to lay out kitchens, baths, and built-ins every day. These are proven configurations with established dimensions, door styles, and pricing, which means we can move quickly from your first conversation to an accurate, itemized quote. When we plan a base cabinet, a wall unit, or a tall pantry from this library, you know exactly what you're getting and what it costs.

Think of it as a shared vocabulary. It gives you and our design team a common starting point, so we can plan a complete project, price it with confidence, and keep the process moving without surprises.

A custom shop at heart

Here's what sets Rigel Cabinetry apart: the standard library is where we begin, not where we stop.

We are, first and foremost, a fully custom cabinet shop. The standard catalog covers the most common needs, but real homes rarely fit a standard mold. Whenever a project calls for something the catalog doesn't list, we simply build it—to the exact size, configuration, and finish your space requires.

Modifications and custom work are quoted transparently, so you always know what a change costs before we build it. There's no point where we tell you a request isn't possible—if you can describe it, we can very likely make it.

Precision manufacturing with Hexagon's Cabinet Vision

What makes this level of customization practical—and repeatable—is the technology behind our shop floor. We manufacture using Cabinet Vision, the industry-leading design-to-manufacturing software from Hexagon.

CABINETS

Cabinet Vision lets us engineer every cabinet down to the smallest detail before a single panel is cut:

- Exact dimensions. Width, height, and depth adjusted to the fraction of an inch to fit your walls, your appliances, and your layout—not a rounded-off standard size.
- Tailored interiors. Custom shelf spacing, drawer banks, roll-outs, dividers, and specialty storage configured around how you actually use the space.
- Material and finish control. Your choice of wood species, door styles, edge profiles, and finishes, specified precisely and carried straight through to production.
- Engineered accuracy. Because the design drives the machinery directly, the cabinet that ships is the cabinet that was drawn—consistent, square, and built to last.

This is the best of both worlds: the speed and clarity of a standard catalog for planning and pricing, paired with the freedom of true custom manufacturing for the build itself.

How it comes together

1. Start with the standards. We use our 2020 Design Flex library to define the shape of your project and give you a clear, accurate quote.
2. Customize anything. Adjust a size, rework an interior, or design something entirely new—tell us what your space needs.
3. We build it to spec. Using Cabinet Vision, we manufacture each piece to your exact specifications, with the precision and consistency the software guarantees.

NOTE: We've got you covered on the details... dish washer panel, toe kick, shoe moulding, cabinet scribe trim, etc.

Where the standards end, our craftsmanship begins.

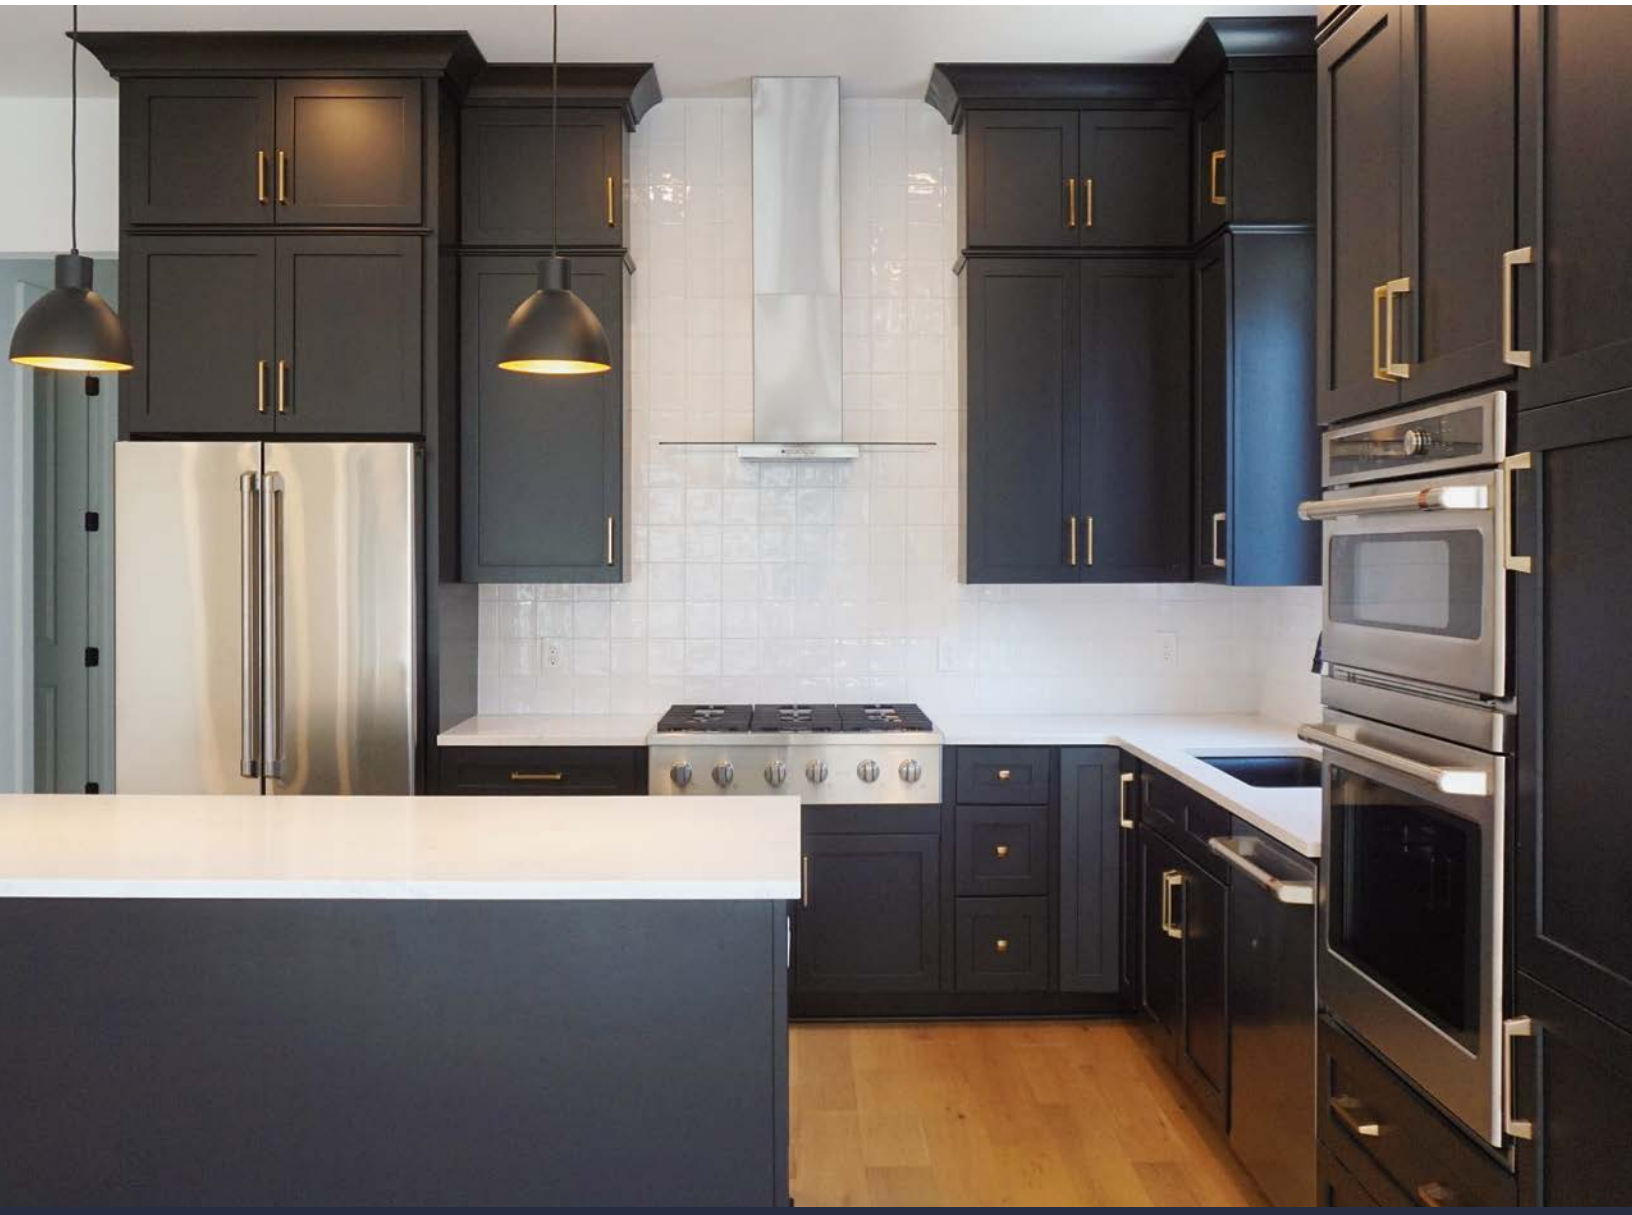

"Here's what sets Rigel Cabinetry apart: the standard library is where we begin, not where we stop."

This is the best of both worlds: the speed and clarity of a standard catalog for planning and pricing, paired with the freedom of true custom manufacturing for the build itself.

Hoods

RANGE HOODS

A range hood is often the centerpiece of the kitchen, and Rigel offers custom wood range hoods from two trusted names: Hoodsly and Omega National Products. We supply these hoods directly to our customers, so you order your hood through us right alongside your cabinetry—one point of contact, one coordinated order. Both partners are known for quality craftsmanship and a wide range of styles, giving you the flexibility to find a hood that complements your cabinetry and anchors your kitchen design. Whether your taste runs traditional, transitional, or modern farmhouse, we can match a hood to your door style, wood species, and finish for a seamless, built-in look.

Because your hood is purchased through Rigel, we can finish it to coordinate with the rest of your cabinetry—including our sprayed Conversion Varnish, wiped-on stains, and glazed finishes—so everything arrives ready to install as one cohesive package. From clean, simple profiles to detailed designs with corbels, trim, and decorative accents, our Hoodsly and Omega National hoods tie the whole space together, and buying through us keeps ordering, finishing, and delivery all in one place.

ORDER REVIEW & APPROVAL

Thank you for choosing Rigel Cabinetry. Please review this your document carefully. If revisions are needed, contact Rigel Cabinetry. We will update and resend documentation reflecting any approved modifications before production begins.

QUOTES & PRICING

All quotes are considered estimates until final written approval. Changes including (but not limited to) door style modifications, finish changes, quantity adjustments, additions, or deletions may result in pricing adjustments. Final pricing is confirmed upon signed approval and deposit receipt.

SCHEDULED MEETINGS PRIOR TO PRODUCTION

To guarantee that your design is crafted to the highest standards and free of flaws, a ZOOM meeting will be scheduled prior to production. This meeting will provide an opportunity for thorough review and discussion of the design, ensuring that every detail meets your expectations and our quality standards. Please note that any changes requested after the design has been signed off will incur a minimum fee of $500.

DEPOSIT & PRODUCTION POLICY

To initiate production, a 50% deposit is required. Production scheduling, material allocation, and leadtime begin only after final approval is received and the 50% deposit is collected. The remaining balance is due prior to delivery or installation unless otherwise agreed upon in writing.

LEAD TIMES

Standard lead time is 4–6 weeks for standard orders. Lead times may vary depending on custom specifications, specialty materials, or non-standard modifications. Rigel Cabinetry will communicate any changes to projected timelines promptly.

Default Carrier & Shipping Options

At Rigel Cabinetry, we are committed to delivering your cabinets safely and in excellent condition. Old Dominion Freight Line has been our preferred freight carrier for the past several months, and we have chosen to continue working with them because of their exceptional customer service, careful handling of freight, and consistently low damage rates.

Beginning immediately, Old Dominion will remain the default carrier on all cabinet quotations and orders unless an alternate carrier is specifically requested by the customer.

We understand that freight costs are an important factor in purchasing decisions, and we want to provide flexibility where possible. Customers are welcome to select a different carrier if they prefer to pursue lower freight costs.

Please note that while Rigel Cabinetry is happy to accommodate your carrier preference, Rigel Cabinetry cannot assume responsibility for freight damage, shortages, delays, or service-related issues on shipments transported by any carrier other than Old Dominion Freight Line. Any claims arising from the transportation of the shipment will be the responsibility of the customer and the selected carrier. Regardless of the carrier chosen, our team will continue to package and prepare every order with the same level of care and attention to detail.

In our experience, lower-cost carriers can sometimes result in higher rates of freight damage, longer transit times, and more difficult claims processes. We encourage customers to consider both cost and service quality when selecting a carrier.

If minimizing the risk of freight damage is your top priority, we recommend shipping with Old Dominion. If reducing freight costs is your primary concern, we will gladly work with your preferred carrier whenever possible.

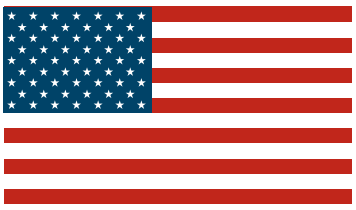

If you have any questions regarding freight options, carrier selection, or shipping costs, please contact your account manager.

Thank you for your continued trust and partnership with Rigel Cabinetry.
